

Give It All Away

Ben Jelen

Swinging round in circles, looking for the way,
Fleeing from the time when she wanted me to stay.
My world is swirling round, this time I know it well,
Our love is coming down again.

Then I realize inside me, I've had myself all wrong,
This time I know for certain, I've never been that strong
The moment you remember, those times you stop to think,
Our love will come undone again.

But with demons sitting at my side,
An angel's come to ask me why
And slowly I give up inside to say
To feel alive, I'd give it all away

Destructive words to make it so, but none of this is you you know

Another year, another week, another set of summer sheets
Another 'we should hang out again soon'
Another drink, another kiss

And with demons sitting at my side,
Another angel asks me why
And it doesn't take too much to say
To feel alive, I'd give it all away

Again, and again and again

Then she's sitting at my side
An angel's come to ask me why
And it takes nothing to say
To feel alive, I'll give it all away.