

Begin

Ben Lee

I'm walking down Broadway
Each footstep is a new love letter
I'm trying to make eye contact
With each and every stranger that I pass
I'm thinking about the city
It's living proof people need to be together
I'm thinking about how I just wanna open up
And give and give and give

And its ok for you to care
Cos I can feel you in the air
And while you wonder
How's this gonna end
I only wanted to begin

I'm thinking about desire
I've had to learn how to sin successfully
I'm thinking about bliss
And bliss is all dressed up and there's no one to dance with Remembering her smile
And the nuclear bomb and the reasons I loved her
I'm walking through central park
I'm in a foreign country and I'm waiting for a sign

And its ok for you to care
Cos I'm not going anywhere
And while you wonder
If you should let me in
I only wanted to begin

I'm still singing
Twisting new melodies, breaking arrangements
I'm thinking about my heart
I guess youve heard, sometimes its heavy
But I just keep moving
When I hit a wall I look up at the sky
I'm thinking about my maker
And despite all this I know she wont give up on me

And its ok for you to care
Cos I can taste you everywhere
And while its true all straight things must bend
I only wanted to begin
