

She Is

Ben Rector

She hails from Boston
She hates the sound that goodbyes make
She loves Sundays and champagne
She can't stand the winter
She can't stand anything she can't change, she can't change

She is whatever she wants to be
She is a little of everything, mixed up, so tough in a beautiful way
She's got the world at her fingertips
She makes beauty look effortless
And I want everything she is she is she is
Oh, I want everything she is

Well we talk for hours but she wrote the book on hard to get
No it don't matter what I say
I could buy her flowers
But that's just too cliché to impress a girl like her
But you know I kinda like it that way

She is whatever she wants to be
She is a little of everything, mixed up, so tough in a beautiful way
She's got the world at her fingertips
She makes beauty look effortless
And I want everything she is, she is, she is, she is oh she is

And all I think about
And I can't do without the good, the bad, the somewhere in between Oh, because I want everything she is..

Whatever she wants to be
She's a little everything, mixed up, so tough, in a beautiful way
She is whatever she wants to be
She is a little of everything, mixed up, so tough in a beautiful way
She's got the world at her fingertips
She makes beauty look effortless
And I want everything she is she is she is Cause I want everything she is she is she is
Oh yeah