

Sister Heroine

Beth Hart

It's gonna be a dark cold December
With shaking lilies in the yard.
Your sweet face I will remember
How I'm gonna miss your stubborn heart.
So forgive me for my weakness
I guess my faith is a little stoned.
The angels cried on a Friday
The day that God walked you home.

So goodbye sister heroine
I'll remember everything
I love you... I love you... I love you
Goodbye white trash beauty Queen
Your crooked heart your beat up dreams
I love you... I love you... I love you...

It hurts to laugh here without you
A piece inside of us is gone.
Mama tries she tries to smile too
Aint never seen that woman try so hard.
No more working Alvarado
No more liars, tramps or tricks.
Your skin & bones don't cast no shadow on an empty bed in Motel Six

So goodbye sister heroine
I'll remember everything
I love you... I love you... I love you
Goodbye white trash beauty Queen
Your crooked heart your beat up dreams
I love you... I love you... I love you...

We all threw roses at your feet
While you burned our crosses in the street
So if you're looking down on me,
I love you... I love you...

Goodbye sister heroine
I'll remeber everything
I miss you... I miss you... I miss you
Goodbye sister heroine
To the hell we were living in
I love you... I love you... I love you

Goodbye white trash - superstar
Shining on wherever you are
I love you... I love you... I love you
I love you... I love you
