Wave

Beth Orton

If I were a wave – you'd have caught me
If you were my light – I would fade
If you were the sea – you'd not turn your back on me
I'd shake your fury – right out off of me

I was crying out for you, before I ever knew Crying out to you, breathe me in
I was crying out for you, before I ever knew
Crying out to you, breathe me in

If I am wave – come and catch me
If I am all wrong – make me right
When I am a sound – I was twisting out loud
Shake that fury – right on out to see

I was crying out for you, before I ever knew
Crying out to you, breathe me in
I was crying out for you, before I ever knew
Crying out to you, breathe me in

And all in all what the sea forgets
And all in all what the sea forgets
All in all remember not to forget to shake the fury right out off of me

And all in all let the sea forget
And all in all let the sea forget
All in all remember not to forget
to shake the fury right out off of me
That you and I were always going to be
