My Love Hasn't Grown Cold

Bethany Dillon

You shake your head What is so hard to believe? When you are in your bed I sing over you the sweetest things

Because oh, my love does not tire I'm awake when the moon is full And I know the times when you feel lost And you just aren't sure

Lo and behold My love hasn't grown cold For you

You cold steal away in the middle of the night And hide in the light of day While you cloak yourself in the darkest lies

But oh my love, it swims in the deepest oceans of fear And as soon as you lower your head I am here

Lo and behold My love hasn't grown cold For you

If only you could see How heaven stills when you speak I know all your days And I have wrapped you in mystery

And oh, my love for you Is as wide as the galaxies Just hold out your hand and close your eyes And come be with me

Lo and behold My love hasn't grown cold For you
