

Everyday I find I am looking for me
And these unfinished lives
Every movement and emotion settles my heart
It is paralyzing

Maybe I am crazy
I say there is a better way
And these waves come crashing on my shore
I will not be moved 'cause I know who I am

When the stars all go home
I won't fight to be known
I will listen for your voice
That calls me home

All of the lights are dimming
The comfort is cold
I am drowning in the quiet
I take off my make-up
I am tired of this side of my face
And my unfinished life

Maybe I am crazy
I say there is a better way
And these waves come crashing on my shore
I will not be moved 'cause I know who I am

When the stars all go home
I won't fight to be known
I will listen for your voice
That calls me home

When the stars all go home
I won't fight to be known
I will listen for your voice
That calls me home
Listen for your voice
That calls me
Listen for your voice
That calls me home