

Supplementary Exegesis

Bethlehem

The shriek blockaded machinery tears me away in this very moment deep dark night embraces me like a casket black rain cauterizes the protecting surface

It's not only one which fulfills me with fear there are lots of like a mask for each situation another countenance like cadaverous fire it overcasts my being

I can't see the course any longer death is no expectation truth is broken in mediocrity and in there repeatedly rituals

I got the crushing perception of my own insignificance

The marmoraccon angel offers me an occult smile but I only see the mourning and the dissociation in it's eyes

It's not the religion which delivers me like a ship in the deep black sea it's the animalistic abyss A really flowing stream perverted desire

I could show my paradise but you won't understand I could snatch the blindness away from you and you would perish with me
