

Beyond Myself

Beto Vázquez Infinity

I see you cross the dark of night covering yourself in the breeze of the senses in an eternal flight where no one else can see our reality

Sometimes the weariness defeats me and I start dreaming but within my silence is your pain

Beyond myself
I want your desire to touch mine

I can only see reflects inside of your soul within mine. in the breeze of the senses silent feelings that today are just illusions masking the truth of it xxx

If people could just enter my world, they will not survive but behind my shadow, my innocence is found

Beyond myself
I want your desire to touch mine
beyond myself
The desire and passion thrill me

Sometimes the weariness defeats me and I start dreaming

Your absence cause me agony and your arrival splendor

Beyond myself
I want your desire to touch mine...