

The Vortex

Beto Vázquez Infinity

What you read now is the present time passes by, and is already part of the past it's trapped in this instant everything that remains is our future it exists outside our perception only words endure, and no power on earth can alter them
can alter them

Time is a fragment of eternity a moment by my side I watched as people passed me by and saw deep into their disturbed faces the reflection of the vortex shining in their eyes the reflection of the vortex living in their minds.

Life isn't a race, take it slowly when you cross the portal to the other side you will see with different vision, time stands still
you will see with different vision, time stands still