What's Left Of You

Betraying the Martyrs

For you, father, eternal ! In your absence, your silence, is raging in my ears And your silence fills me up - fills my existence, For how I long to have you here, Nothing more, nothing less, existence ! And you absence tars me up, I just need to feel you, Come back, show me, which path to turn to Please, come back Is that you talking through the water ? (I just need to feel yo u) A burning message through the fire (lighting up this path I wal k) I'll search for you (forever) call out for you (and ever) To find you walking by my side, hand in hand Show me the way Send me a sign Send me anything I need to see you hear your voice again I need to know that you hear me - that you're here somewhere Send me a sign - send me anything Show me the way, light my path, help me get back home Show me the way ! My spirit shatters, I hear your voice in my head When nothing matters, you bring me faith again I hear you talking through the water ? I see a message in the f ire And I'll search for you (forever) call out for you (and ever) And find you walking by my side, hand in hand As I child; I lost my way, but now I realize I needed you ! All the answers I seek, hidden inside of me, I am you, I am wha t's left of you
