

One More Time

Better Luck Next Time

Let's start this off, while we take a walk, down the road like all the others

What we entail, why we won't fail, lies ahead while we lead on

She doesn't know what she might say

She turned her back; no need to run away

Now that she's gone, and words were said, what will she do now that her boyfriend is always miserable?

And I say, yea I know everything will be alright when I say, try me out one more time

Now that I'm back, I need to get it right 'cause I'm, I'm right on track

Not knowing where to go and I'm trying to find the words to say

,
stuck inside my yesterday, the world that tells me I'm ok; where am I today?