

Absolutely Still

Better Than Ezra

This Grey room,
This bunker,
The air is humming
us to sleep

While outside,
the city hurries;
the endless worries
are out of reach

Promise me we'll never leave this room,
a million years from now would be too soon.

The world is spinning turning day to night
and my thoughts are running at the speed of light Got an empty feeling that I never want to fill
absolutely still
I waited longer 'cause I needed proof that every door I shut is leading me to you and there's a nervous feeling that i never want to kill
absolutely still

We were running from the same noise,
We were stuck in the same pursuit

Now the door's locked and I find that the dizzy madness is bleeding through

Promise me you'll never leave this room,
a million years from now would be too soon.

The world is spinning turning day to night
and my thoughts are running at the speed of light Got an empty feeling that I never want to fill
absolutely still
I waited longer 'cause I needed proof
that every door I shut is leading me to you
and there's a nervous feeling that I never want to kill
absolutely still

Promise me you'll never leave this room,
a million years from now would be too soon.

The world is spinning turning day to night
and my thoughts are running at the speed of light Got an empty feeling that I never want to fill
absolutely still
I waited longer 'cause I needed proof
that every door I shut is leading me to you
and there's a nervous feeling that I never want to kill
absolutely still

I'll go anywhere you want tonight

'cause my head is spinning like a satellite I got a restless feeling that I never want to fill I'm absolutely still