I Just Knew

Better Than Ezra

When you walk in the noise dissapears Where you begin is perfectly clear All this time I felt so confused Then came you and I just knew

Well I fell out when you picked up the phone When we'd go out, yeah, it'd feel just like home Do you think that I'm alright Shining through and I just knew And I just knew

There's something I've been meaning to ask you How about making it for real Something changed but I just knew And I just knew

There's something I've been meaning to ask you How about doing it for life Something changed and I just knew And I just knew And I just know Oh yeah and I knew

Come around and see me tonight, Darlin' Come around and make it all right Come around and see me tonight Come around and make it all right, Darlin'
