

Brain-tag

Bettie Serveert

How does this rhyme, cause every time I see you well, I could swear, must've met you somewhere

Down under lock and key,
there's a brain-tag to every secret
If I could keep my mouth shut, there's a chance that I might even keep it
You feel familiar and I wanna feel some more
Have I every laid my hands on you before

This must sound weird, it's like you peered inside me cause every time, you recognise my state of mind

Down under lock and key,
we put a brain-tag to every secret Now comes a time to figure out whether we should keep it
You feel familiar and I wanna feel some more
Have I every laid my hands on you before

Total freedom beneath the waves Floating through the arcane caves Synchronised in space and time Leaving all desire behind