

What They Call Love

Bettie Serveert

What they call love
Is just mother nature trying to have her way
Like a chemical inside your mind
It turns you deaf and dumb and blind so easily

When I care more than I care to know
I just play it down, so my fears don't show
How many times can I push them aside
I don't know

And here's to the fear
That blinded me all those years
And here's to the times
When I almost lost my mind

I take care of myself
I don't need no one else
But I love the way you say my name
So sweetly

I wonder should I trust in you
Or anyone, no matter who
You say you love me like a friend
Is this for real or just pretend, oh, no offense

And here's to the fear
That blinded me all those years
And here's to the times
When I almost lost my mind

I said to myself
I don't need no one else
But I love the way you say my name
