Not Too Late For Love

Beverley Knight

Do you wonder if your future rests on a mountain made of clay? Climbing higher ain't an easy quest 'cause your ground's falling away Once upon a time you knew just what you wanted, who you were Now you find there ain't a soul you trust, and your vision's all a blur

Sweet baby, don't you cry Everybody feels the same Hope gives us reasons why This is not a losing game

The world is going crazy Everybody's spinning Out of sync and out of time Living in a movie Waiting for the credits Don't you know it's real life? You can't let it phase ya Trying to find the reasons When it seems the bad outweighs the good Until we lose our faith, fall from grace It's not too late for love

There are times when we reach for the sky, and we tumble down to earth Still no closer to the finish line, though we've run for all we're worth We are living in the strangest years, there's so much uncertainty Seems as though some of our darkest fears have become reality

Sweet baby, don't you cry See this storm is gonna pass No matter how it tries Troubled weather never lasts

The world is going crazy Everybody's spinning Out of sync and out of time Living in a movie Waiting for the credits Don't you know it's real life? You can't let it phase ya Trying to find the reasons When it seems the bad outweighs the good Until we lose our faith, fall from grace It's not too late for love

Everybody's spinning Out of sync and out of time Living in a movie Waiting for the credits Don't you know it's real life? You can't let it phase ya Find the reasons When it seems the bad outweighs the good Until we lose our faith, fall from grace It's not too late I said it's not too late for or love

Its not too late, so put your faith in love Its not too late, so put your faith in love
