

Paperfriend

Biffy Clyro

Avert your eyes from the empty chamber, the Gun's in my mouth but it just doesn't feel like home
Feel like home
Equip your life with a human blender, son
If things are sane, make a rage about being alone
Being alone

Home
Want to remember home
Home

How long since you called me
How long since you've tried
To help me through this nightmare, make it to the other side
And how long since you cared for
Anyone except yourself
Well help me through this nightmare, make it as somebody else

Everyone's crying and I can't remember her
Which days are real and which ones are set in stone
Set in stone
Avert your eyes from the empty chamber, the
Gun's in my mouth and it's gonna start feeling like home
Feels like home

How long since you called me
How long since you've tried
To help me through this nightmare, make it to the other side
How long since you cared for
Anyone except yourself
Well help me through this nightmare, make it as somebody else

How long since you called
And how long since you've tried
To help me through this nightmare, make it to the other side
And how long since you cared for
Anyone except yourself
Well help me through this nightmare, make it as somebody else

Solitary night
Just TV to hold my hand
Let's throw death away
Let's throw death away

Solitary life
Though you were sitting by my side
Let's throw death away
Let's throw death away
