The Fog

Biffy Clyro

Baby come down to the bottom of the stairs There's a reflection I want you to see Our history and loneliness has defeated our devices

Lady come down, it's time to stop and stare
There's a successor I want you to meet
His misery and loneliness have exceeded expectations
But still we fall down

Look at the stars, they're getting younger Look at your pain, you're getting older Not feeling right but always hoping for more

I'm gonna tumble to the centre of the square There's a triangle I wanted to see The fog has cast a shadow homeward We're losing our direction So forget the whole thing
