

The Rain

Biffy Clyro

When we're in the back room we can't hear a sound
Creaking and groaning with windows smashed out
The hush isn't separate from the glory found
At the edge of your basement where the light gets out

Only the heavens can say when the rain gets out

I still love it when you're around
It cost me my kingdom
Your glorious crown
The moment I wake up, I forget to breathe
All of this heartbreak is smothering me

Only the heavens can say when the rain gets out
Only the heavens can say when the rain gets out
