

How It Goes

Big D And The Kids Table

I'm all sexy, I'm set straight.
I got the whole thing, and yeah its great.
Life's just running around sayin "Hi"
And I dont hafta worry, no, cause i read people, yeah i flow.
God's taking notes on me.
well things awkward? just a little bit.
maybe its me, naw, thats sh*t.
they're gettin worried about me.
well slow, slow down or so im told im diggin a circle around a hole lets play who wont breath!

well we all gotta burn something.
yeah we all gotta burn something.
see, were all, were all just burning something.
and we all gotta burn something.

she had a boyfriend, so im told.
played a dumb sport through the drama show.
her parents screamed "on your knees!"
trapped a bond, every day like never
i know, i know, things should get better.
"aww, no, not another bad week!"
but boy, boyfriend, ah yeah he cheated.
and something about her being mistreated.
and her eyes, she was only 20% there.
and little by little by little by little she lost her interest.
little by little at an age, young age, she had to burn something.

we all gotta burn something.
yeah we all, gotta burn something.
see, were all, were all just burning something.
yeah we all gotta burn something.

so stop me. well, im tired.
stop me. well, im tired.
stop me. well, im tired.
go on, and stop me, well im tired.

he dug this girl from tokyo.
he wished he liked the radio.
and he said maybe one day ill put some crap up there too.
see, learning is never what we expect.
kinda like the way they met.
overrun by change, those years can steal.
and now he puts up too many empty brains.
his lonely apartment he goes to sing & his life becomes an action tale, he said powers too common dont you think these days.
i'd rather go back to my old days.
i'd rather go back to my simple ways.

oh see we all, gotta burn something.
yeah we all gotta burn something.
see were all, were all just burning something.
yeah, we all, gotta burn something.