Big Drill Car

True, found out what was truth This is my last goodbye, fact and fiction always trips up you Well you can see with your eyes this one coming in The day that she decided was to quit had enough and that was it You surrendering control What about wounds in your soul Looking forward to her light sunrise She slipped away in front of your eyes And all that time you know (2x) What made you happy was the beginning She wasn't kidding No, no not this time And now you're laying around like a rolled up dollar bill If that's your fix you need you can do it I don't think I will Baby you needed something that'll kick you around I just hope you right your wrongs before you're six feet in the ground You surrendering control What about wounds in your soul Looking forward to her light sunrise She slipped away in front of your eyes And all that time you know (2x) What made you happy was the beginning She wasn't kidding No, no not this time Not this time (3x)