

Best Of Me

Bigwig

I can't see how things fall apart so easily still i can't find forgiveness in my heart to let it go i look inside myself and what do i see? anger and hostility falling apart. keep it together trying to make ends meet frustrations got the best of me things seem so black and white just like it used to be searching for my confidence searching for complacency it's got the best of me