I Really Don't Care

I really don't care, I really don't care Really don't care, I really don't care

I know I'm not a typical guy, and your friends say I don't have a chance But I wonder if you pay them no mind, 'cause it's costing us ti me Can you give me a chance to show you why? We should be forever again, forever again

Och lets drive around town, don't really have a place to go We could lay down by the sea and listen to the ocean's symphony

I really don't care, really really don't care I really really don't care, I really don't care

Haven't kissed this long in quite some time Have you ever felt the love like this? I wonder if you're changing your mind It feels like ecstasy the second time Loving you forever again, forever again You'll never be blue
