Deep in the heart of a city night There's a young girl dancing free Twiling in circle by the front porch light Out on the street of dreams, out on the street of dreams Further down there's a family there's a young couple in their teens Their baby smiling at a barking dog It was down on the street of dreams There on the street of dreams And they still go where they want to And the will be who the will be Cause there are no walls around their hearts On the street of dreams, their on the street of dreams Two older men talk of days gone by And of a world they've never seen Their hearts are young but they've traveled far On down the street of dreams, their on the street of dreams And they still go where they want to And the will be who the will be Cause there are no walls around their hearts On the street of dreams And you can go where you want to You can be who you will be Cause there are no walls around your heart On the street of dreams And you can go where you want to You can be who you will be Cause there are no walls around your heart On the street of dreams, we're on the street of dreams Deep in the heart of a city night there's a young girl dancing free Twiling in circle by the front porch light Out on the street of dreams, out on the street of dreams There on the street of dreams..... Were on the street of dreams.
