

There Is You

Bill Miller

There is anger, there is rage
Nameless victims of the age
Hear their voices, hear their cries
Face to face and eye to eye

Where there is promise, there is hope
There is you
Where there is kindness, there is love
There is you

Greedy tyrants using force
Vengeful souls without remorse
Spreading hate, spreading lies
Icy fire behind their eyes

Where there is conscience, there is truth
There is you
Where there is someone with a need
There is you

You are a rock
You are a shield
You are a flower in the field
You are a shelter in the storm

Making ovens, building bombs
When will we question what is wrong?
Take a stand, draw the line
Will we die before our time?

Where there is grace, there is beauty
There is you
Where there is peace, there is life
There is you

Where there is grace, there is beauty
There is you
Where there is peace, there is life
There is you, yeah

You are a rock
You are a shield
You are a flower in the field
You are a shelter in the storm