

Till Something Better Comes Along

Billie Jo Spears

I don't believe you love me as much as you left home
But since you feel you only you keep holding on You'll carry me to any length just to prove you have the strength

And you'll hold me till something better comes along
And then you'll leave me you won't even care
How I feel when I'll awake and you're not there
So I'll just live and love you one day at a time
And until something better comes along your mind

[guitar + piano]

If I have a chance my life to rearrange
I couldn't change the things I'd really like to change
By going back the only thing I came this time
Because till something better comes along your mind
