Ontario, Quebec & Me

You don't need my Christmas cards You already have my heart This has been a holiday romance Right from the very start For we know how to spend the time Who cares about the weather We'll dance in the town till the sun goes down And push our beds together From the land of the midnight sunglasses To the mountains of the moon You could never stay a day too long Nor never come back too soon And you know what a fool I am With my short attention span Flying in the rainy season too, Nothing can keep me away from you
