Enough Is Enough

Billy Ray Cyrus

Ain't it sad Johnny had another accident Down some steps and landed on a lit cigarette Must have made daddy madder than he thought he had

So his little mind becomes a bomb that ain't exploded yet Said he talks to angels in these moments of pain One day they'll point their pearly wings

And say that enough is enough Enough tears have been shed Enough hurt has been hidden Enough blood has been bled

I said, enough is enough Let it rain, love and trust 'Til the steel fist of rage Has fallen into rust Enough is enough

In the board room of a squirrelly third world government Hammerin' tunes there on the bones of the innocent Greedy little minds sit tradin' guns and bad medicine

Could it be it's time for Brother Abel to raise some Cain If we hold our dreams pressed in the palm of our hands There'll come a day when we all will stand

And say, that enough is enough Enough tears have been shed Enough hurt has been hidden Enough blood has been bled

I said enough is enough Let it rain love and trust 'Til the steel fist of rage Has fallen into rust Enough is enough

You know, that enough is enough Enough tears have been shed Enough hurt has been hidden Enough blood has been bled

I said, enough is enough Let it rain, love and trust 'Til the steel fist of rage Has fallen into rust Enough is enough

I said, that enough is enough Enough tears have been shed Enough hurt has been hidden Enough blood has been bled

I said, enough is enough Let it rain love and trust 'Til the steel fist of rage Has fallen into rust Enough is enough

You know, enough is enough I said, enough is enough You know, enough is enough Enough is enough