

Finale

Birdeatsbaby

It must be time to go Now you can say that you told me so Stay a little more time for a standing ovation Won't you take pride in this rare sensational victory You're pretending

You've always been such a contradiction And I dare not tell you every affliction That borders on madness and keeps us from spe aking Keeps us in moments that keep repeating my memories Never ending

There's not a soul here to deny me But I leave unknown Always a line here to remind me How I linger on