

Fireflies

Bishop Allen

Your shine how it makes me shiver
The line you trace
It says you can still forgive her
And she will forgive you back

Oh, hey, firefly
Oh, why, firefly

And I'd given up already
And I'd let my eyes adjust
When blinking and unsteady
You say come in

Oh, why, firefly
Oh, why, firefly

So I will take
This new shape
But tell me, darlin'
What difference will it make?

And, oh, how it drifts through evening
And into the darkening night

And when I shine, she sees me
Oh, so brief and bright

Brief and bright, firefly
Oh, why, firefly

So I will take to this new shape
And will she know
Will I show how I can glow?

Oh, why, firefly
Brief and bright, firefly
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
Oh, so brief and bright
