Black Country Communion

Take my eyes Burn down the Sun How can you be so cold? You left me here All hope is gone Where is the life Sold l pray the dawn Will break this spell What will become of me? It took my breath So hard I fell Lost in a shell, ghostly And the rain falls down On the this lonely child And I could not feel The fire And I realize This was meant to be And I need some time To grieve And you fade so slowly Now all that shines is Gold And I feel I'm dyin' How can you be so cold? When the sky is fallin' Now that you're growin' old And I feel I'm dyin' How can you be so cold? So slowly wake me From my sleep Here in this house I dwell And don't delay The wound so deep Down in this livin' hell
