Your eyes wide open and your breath is getting short Your face and your body are covered in cold sweat This will be the first time for you, young warrior It's a matter of life and of death

Courage and belief will guide you on your unsafe path Look forward, be strong and sly, my son
Use your sword the way I told you in the past
Trust in your skills and be a man

My hands lie on your shoulder - My sword is by your side Your blood is running colder - We look forward to fight Your piercing glance tells stories - About the fears of blood a nd death

The gods will save our human bodies - They'll guide us to our l ast breath

The first fight for an unskilled warrior — Will turn you hard f rom boy to man $$

Your childhood's ending here in battle - Now keep calm if you c an

My hands lie on your shoulder - My sword is by your side Your blood is running colder - We look forward to fight Your piercing glance tells stories - About the fears of blood a nd death

The gods will save our human bodies - They'll guide us to our l ast breath

The first fight for an unskilled warrior - Will turn you hard f rom boy to man

Your childhood's ending here in battle - Now keep calm if you c an