

Just To Be With You

Black Milk

in a world without angels in a place without a sky on the boulevard of broken dreams there but for the grace of you, go i when i'd be forever lost among the ruins i'd call your name a thousand times and dream my way to you in the darkest moments, i would never stop believing when the courage i needed, was more than i had left i'd just close my eyes, and i'd see your face and fight for one last breath

in the blistering heat you were my shade
i held on to your promise and the gentle love we made i was so cold and lost without you baby i thought i'd go insane the only thing that kept me hanging on was to be with you again
