Black Rebel Motorcycle Club

Can't change all the things I've done, I know
I'm chasing the reason and my soul
I feel it gone, I feel it gone

I've been waiting for the right time, just to begin I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind Waiting for the right time, just to begin I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind

I've been here a thousand times, I know I thought that the point was to take it slow Now I know what you said was true I feel it gone, I feel it gone

I've been waiting for the right time, just to begin I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind Waiting for the right time, just to begin I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind And I feel it all

I'm drowning in my own disease Now I know it, now I see I feel it all, I feel it all

I've been waiting for the right time, just to begin I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind Waiting for the right time, just to begin I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind I'm feeling like the cold, cold wind And I feel it all

There's nothing left of this They steal your innocence There's nothing left of this What use is innocence? And I feel it all

Yeah, you're awake and you know it 'cause you hit the ground (Yeah, you're awake and you know it 'cause you hit the ground)
Yeah, you're awake and you know it 'cause you hit the ground (Yeah, you're awake and you know it 'cause you hit the ground)
Yeah, we're awake and we know it 'cause we hit the ground (Yeah, we? re awake and we know it 'cause we hit the ground)
