

Tarnished

Black Tape for a Blue Girl

Tarnished

Well, Halo came down from the stage, fell down
He slumps into somebody's arms
Wounds torn open, desire exposed
We grab for a piece of his soul

I have been broken, divided
Annihilated

A thousand dreams left in bloody heaps
Halo at the center
Shouting and whispering truth
Race around the sun in search of an answer
We gather closer for a final look
Taste his tears
Devour him
Slaughter served up, we eat and eat

Well, Halo draws back to his full height
Smiles once again, he's the king of this light
Rubs between his fingers blood clung to bits of, bits of flesh

I have been broken, divided
Annihilated

I deserve this, always more tarnished
Exhausted but alive
I desire this, always more tarnished
Exhausted but alive
I demand this, always more tarnished
Exhausted but alive