

Firefight

Blackguard

Oh how is it we are cursed and reduced to this pandemonium?
Screams of the beings through the ash that I can see.
Now do I beg the question, question the aggression, of the suffering to be?
Why the single spark that made the flame, that set this blaze.

A blaze, a blaze to quell our light and ignite the sky!

The flames that hold us,
Are the same that hold the night.
This was meant to choke the light,
'Cause this is a fire, this is a firefight!
No remorse or regret,
Ravenous contempt for the lives now spent.
Now kiss the blaze and cry,
This is a fire, this is a firefight!

The flames that hold us,
Are the same that hold the night.
This was meant to choke the light,
'Cause this is a fire, this is a firefight!
No remorse or regret,
Ravenous contempt for the lives now spent.
Now kiss the blaze and cry,
This is a fire, this is a firefight!

The plume of black ash so gently caresses the sky,
To the world I knew I say goodbye, there are no more questions now.
The lashes of flickering pain, incandescent luminescent as the brightest day
,
I feel my spirit slipping away!

The flames that hold us,
Are the same that hold the night.
This was meant to choke the light,
'Cause this is a fire, this is a firefight!
No remorse or regret,
Ravenous contempt for the lives now spent.
Now kiss the blaze and cry,
This is a fire, this is a firefight!

No mercy shown or debt was owed for what I cannot dream,
The reason for this wrath bestowed by flame beyond the sea.
Tonight I've heard the cry and swear by all I've seen,
That vengeance will one day be mine, satisfaction will I breathe.

Have you seen your who world build from ash... to ashes return!

The flames that hold us,
Are the same that hold the night.
This was meant to choke the light,
'Cause this is a fire, this is a firefight!
No remorse or regret,
Ravenous contempt for the lives now spent.
Now kiss the blaze and cry,
This is a fire, this is a firefight!

The flames that hold us,

Are the same that hold the night.
This was meant to choke the light,
'Cause this is a fire, this is a firefight!
No remorse or regret,
Ravenous contempt for the lives now spent.
Now kiss the blaze and cry,
This is a fire, this is a firefight!