Those traditions Those ambitions They are yours They are not mine I don't have any visions And I can't tell you my position I'm not trying to reach the sun And I'm not shooting for the moon I guess I'm just my mother's son I gotta do what I gotta do This life you're living Everything that you're giving These are all things you choose to do I'm not trying to be just anyone I'm trying to put my life in tune I guess I'm just my father's son Willing to lose what I gotta lose
