

Good Grief

Blacklisted

If I should ever fall from grace
Just let me fall right on my face
Turn around and walk away
My soul just ain't worth the save
You're wasting your time waiting
For me to come around
'Cause when I hit the ground I'm off and running

You're trying to build
Something out of nothing
Say you'll never give up
But I can tell you one thing
The only person I've ever
Been afraid of is me
'Cause I hear the things I hear
And I see the things I see

It's been twenty-two years
Since I've bothered to care
I'm not impressed with your loneliness
Or the fact that you're still here

I'd say sorry if I thought that you'd believe it
I'd promise you something if I thought that I could mean it
I'd show you the way
I'd promise you hope
But I won't
