

Build a place to keep me safe
From those who fill their pockets while the others pray
If I had my way id carve away my face
Fix me, I'm in a fragile state
Its all okay, I'm made of clay
I can mold and remold and remold into any shape
Like a butterfly I crawl till I fly
Waiting for my wings so this worm can worship the sky
Build a place to keep me safe
From those who fill their pockets while the others pray
If I had my pick id carve you
Into my skin
So we could be identical twins
Draw the drapes, I'm insane
At least that's what they say
Who are they, I don't know
Its hard to explain
They have names, yes they do
They each named after states
Want to see a trick
Just wait and Ill disintegrate
Build me a place to keep me safe
From those who fill their pockets while the others pray
If I had my way id carve away my face
Fix me, I'm in a fragile state
Fix me, I'm in a fragile state
Build me a place to keep me safe
From those who fill their pockets while the others pray
If I had my pick id carve you
Into my skin
So we could be identical twins
