

Empty Words

Blackmore's Night

I have heard that eyes can reflect the soul
And pictures tell a thousand stories
But when I look at you
Why don't I feel it's true
There's so much said in empty words

There are people talking everywhere I look
No one saying what they mean
Still they talk anyway
When there's nothing to say
There's so much said in empty words

I've heard it all so many times
I still try to believe
But you give it away
With the things you don't say
There's so much said in empty words

I've heard it all so many times
I still try to believe
But you give it away
With the things you don't say
There's so much said in empty words

You've listened, but you never heard
There's so much said in empty words
