

Neon Light

Blake Shelton

Ever since you left me
I've riding round,
Crancking up a little country gold heartbreak
Cried and dried these tears
I don't know how much more missing you I can take
I pray pray pray, for a sign sign sign
Now there it is in the window
It's about time, damn time

There's a neon light at the end of the tunnel
It ain't all that bright, but even though it's subtle
It's got me feeling alright, go on and make it a double
There's a neon light at the end of the tunnel

I take a shot of I don't care what you doing now
Chase that one with a cold screw you
When that's done, I just might wash it down
We're the big picture of someone new
That blonde blonde blonde
At the bar bar bar
See if she wants to try and break my heart heart heart

There's a neon light at the end of the tunnel
It ain't all that bright, but even though it's subtle
It's got me feeling alright, go on and make it a double
There's a neon light at the end of the tunnel

When we were together
I thought laugh would set forever
Even though I knew better than the pain would never end
They say that night's dark is just before the dawn
Gets kissed by the daybreak, got down on my knees
And I pray pray pray for a sign sign sign
Now there it is in the window
It's about time, damn time

There's a neon light at the end of the tunnel
It ain't all that bright, but even though it's subtle
It's got me feeling alright, go on and make it a double
There's a neon light at the end of the tunnel
