

Come to me as you sparkle
I would have you no other way
Come to me, for the dark grows
Stronger as we wait
Forgive me, but I'm drawn to those who
Let the rapture tear them away
Come to me, for may this
Moment of eternity

When you find you are exposed to me

Cover up everything
Be the simplest that you, you can never touch
Knowing that everything will fade
As rise to the rush, oh

I've come to find you electric
You would draw me no other way
I've come live for the lightning
Regenerate without restraint
Forgive me, but I'm drawn to those who
Share us in before they embrace
Come to me, for may this
Moment just to your taste

When you find yourself exposed with me, oh

Cover up everything
Be the simplest that you, you can never touch
Knowing that everything will fade
As rise to the rush

Softly, quickly, given to the sweet resistance
This is only a beginning
I would gladly give us up with no resistance
Were the moment never-ending
Burning quickly, given to the sweet persistence
This is only a beginning
I would gladly give us up with no resistance
Were the moment never-ending, rise up to the rush now

Cover up everything
Be the simplest that you, you can never touch
Knowing that everything will fade
Will fade, will fall
Cover up everything
Be the simplest that you, you can never touch
Knowing that everything will fade
As rise to the rush