

Would you like to come meet the wolves who love you?
I know the alleys where they like to hide, though I
Just have to wonder what wing you think that you're under
You haven't got the years nor mind to fly

Little lover, you're in trouble
You can't try to, try to change their minds

You're guilty of their crimes
Now, you see why as you fall forward I'm one step behind you
I know you have always wanted this, so I let the children play
Now, let the party start, put murder back in art

Would you like to come meet the wolves who'd love you
Show you exactly what it takes to play our game?
But I must warn you that once they've taken to you
It will take more than you've got to scare them away, away

Little lover, you're in trouble
You can't try to, try to change their minds

You're guilty of their crimes
Now, you see why as you fall forward I'm one step behind you
Oh, you're so brave, oh, you are so bold
So, so why wait? use your youth before it gets old

Little lover, you're in trouble
You can't try to, try to change their minds

You're guilty of their crimes
Now, you see why as you fall forward I'm one step behind you
I know you have always wanted this, so I let the children play
Now, let the party start, put murder back in art
I know you have always wanted this, so I let the children play
Now, let the party start, put murder back in art
I know you have always wanted this, so I let the children play
Now, let the party start, put murder back in art
