Some girls Some girls they really just wanna hurt you And there's some boys Some boys that laugh when they break your heart But how love dies is a place that I'm not going And we could try, cause If you're feeling small I'll love your shadow And if you're feeling small I'll love your shadow There are those girls Those girls that are waiting by the phone on the weekend Oh yeah, like those boys, those boys that are home with the bro ken hearts But the heart wants fear So we're looking for a villain I'll be there If you're feeling small I'll love your shadow And if you're feeling small I'll love your shadow And I know that they have hurt you And I know the love you gave feels cheap and used And I know it's getting harder And I know the lights have all gone dark on you Still I will love your shadow When the love you gave feels cheap and used Yes I will love your shadow When the lights have all gone dark on you How love dies is a place that I'm not going And we could try...
