Slow conscience Your shade is compromised You called it your life from the start I saw signs of the climb

Your shade is compromised Watch your step, bite your tongue just be aware Content living your life as a self taught cunt You sit there taunting

And raving believing everything you ever told me I see he is not a threat to me So you can't benefit through me First to bright light

So quick to change your mind Calm, flawless
You hide all the truth with cries
You fold and you lie, it's no surprise

You just left me to die Your shade is compromised Hypocrite sell your shit to someone else I won't live like a puppet on your shelf

You sit there taunting
And raving believing everything you ever told me
I hate me for having loved you
I hate you for having loved me

First to bright light
So quick to change your mind
My eyes stare true
While you're on a leisure ride