Everything You Love Is Gone

Bleeding Through

Everything that you ever loved Died before your eyes Now you're always fucking scared You're living someone else's lie

And now this burning feeling
That rips away and destroys your flesh

To mask your insecurities
A new fame inching closer
To your last fucking breath

And now you're too scared I know your just scared

Now you dwell on this sinking feeling Only absence in belief in yourself Someone else keeps pulling your strings

Cowardly weep your time has run out