With the Right Set of Eyes

Blind Melon

You've been on your own since you learned how to adjust to You felt like you had to baby sit your owners just to feel like all the others

All you wanted was... Something that was normal and stable You've always been so aware and so able But you still seem so far away It's difficult to enjoy all the holidays It's nothing more than the same as the other days But you can't feel any other way

You have to tell yourself why Gotta keep your spirit alive Gotta keep yourself movin' forward You never gave into anything around you With something you could never afford

All you wanted was Something that was normal and stable You've always been so aware and so able But you still seem so far away It's difficult to enjoy all the holidays It's nothing more than the same as the other days But you can't feel any other way

When you wish for this You'll ditch everything else It just floats away and crawls out your skull All you wanna do is crawl inside your hole Disappear forever

Something that's normal and stable You've always been so aware and so able But you still seem so far away It's difficult to enjoy all the holidays It's nothing more than the same as the other days But you can't feel any other way

Forever Forever Forever