

Blutsauger

Blitzkid

Take a good look into the mirror.
Try to decipher the monster staring back.
The fog evaporates; now, it's clearer.
You're one in the same; you walk a destructive path.

What you do from here on out will haunt you.
What you've done-none of it can be changed,
So breathe the air of new-found, immortal life.
Consent to this curse, say goodbye to sunlight.

Do you think about the sorrow
One should feel when they've chosen this way?
Is there a hope for a tomorrow
Without poisoned blood running through your veins?

What you do from here on out will haunt you.
What you've done-none of it can be changed,
So breathe the air of new-found, immortal life.
Consent to this curse, say goodbye to sunlight.

Was it regrettable 'cause it's habitual?
Was it so selfish to lay her to waste?
Some say despicable, but I find it's beautiful
To freely take a life without a chase.

What you do from here on out will haunt you.
What you've done-none of it can be changed,
So breathe the air of new-found, immortal life.
Consent to this curse, say goodbye to sunlight.

I'm such a deviant-no one can argue that.
I'll steal the light that resides in your face.
Am I a pestilence? No, I'm just like vengeance,
Just a bloodsucker without a name.

And I'll suck the life right out of you,
(I'll suck the life right out of you)
And I'll kill the light left in the moon.
(I'll kill the light left in the in moon)
This curse-it is my only truth,
(This curse-it is my only truth)
And I'll take my sanity with it, too.
(I'll take my sanity with it, too)

All right.