

Not of this world entirely.
Heaven sent, you are my diety.
Lived through all the romance sadly meant for me.

All I need is a sign.
Make your presence known to mine.
Come to me, I will be divine.

I wear the spell you put on me.
Like a charm no one else can see.
Keeps away the wicked badly meant for me.

All I need is a sign.
Make your presence known to mine.
Come to me, and I will be divine.

And when I thought my fire finally died, I felt your spell, tight as ever, tied.

No one is above the rituals of love.
Temptation calls and the stars fall from the blue.
There is no limitation except for me and you.

Lived through all the romance sadly meant for me.

All I need is a sign.
Make your presence known to mine.
Come to me, and I will be divine.

All I need is a sign.
Make your presence known to mine.
Come to me, and I will be divine.

All I need is a sign.
Make your presence known to mine.
Come to me, and I will be divine.